The Lacey Act makes it unlawful to import, export, transport, sell, receive, acquire, or purchase in interstate or foreign commerce any wildlife, fish, or plants in violation of the laws of the United States, a State, an Indian tribe, or any foreign law that protects plants. In 2008, the Lacey Act was amended to include a wider variety of prohibited plants and plant products, including products made from illegally logged woods, for import. Chemours Titanium Technologies is in compliant with the Lacey Act.

Further questions should be directed to: TiO2ProductStewardship@chemours.com